PREMIER TALKS UP TO HUNS

SAYS GERMANY MUST SETTLE FOR LOSS OF ALLIES IN THE WAR

BIRMINGHAM, England, Feb. 5.—Premier Lloyd George, in a momentous speech today, served notice upon Germany that Great Britain will not modify the indemnity and disarmament plans levied by the inter-allied supreme council at Paris just a week ago. The new pledge of solidarity was proclaimed to the world and the premier solemnly and sternly warned Germany that the allied powers are united in the determination to see that the treaty of Versailles is carried out to the letter. The World War cost all nations $250,000,000,000 and 19,000,000 lives. Nearly 10,000,000 were permanently crippled, declared the British premier.

"Collapse of trade came with appalling suddenness and every nation in the world is now suffering. Exchanges must be stabilized. Germany is not trying to stabilize exchanges, and I am going to tell Dr. Simons, German foreign minister, when the indemnity meeting is held

France had a right to dictate disarmament to Germany, said the pro-

WASHINGTON, Feb. 5.—The Wilson administration is closing up its books, preparatory to going out of business March 3rd. Nothing will be done in the few short weeks remaining of the Democratic regime that is calculated to embarrass in any way the policies that President-elect Harding and the new cabinet will adopt toward foreign governments. Regarding the adjustment of the ten billion dollar debt owed the United States by for-

One exception was noted by Secretary Houston: the matter of $122,517, 635.57 owed by Great Britain. In this item, Secretary Houston said he had arranged for the payment of 75,000 $17,500.97 of principal with interest on same. The amount is so small in comparison with the amount Great Britain owes that it practically lost

Annual interest charges at five per cent requires a half billion annually, but that's but very little interest has been paid on any of the amounts. But for the campaign, Harding said he would rather see the whole amount remitted than see American industries closed down because of an influx of foreign-made goods sent in payment. The general impression among treasury experts is that a long term agreement will be reached with the stipulation that the debtor nations must keep up interest payments.

WHAT THE RECORDS SHOW

Whether prohibition law enforcement under the Volstead law is a success or failure, is open to discussion, and is being discussed rather freely.

And to aid in this discussion, so that it may be intelligent, it might be worth while to refer to the records to see just what has been done along that line.

The story told by the records seems quite imposing, at any rate.

A resume of the activities of prohibition agents for the first ten months since the Volstead law has been in effect shows:

8,456 illicit distilleries seized and destroyed;
9,186 stills seized and destroyed;
4,182 still worms seized;
138,608 gallons of spirits seized and destroyed;
50,448 fermenters seized and destroyed;
1,021 automobiles seized;
20 breweries seized;
24,469 persons arrested;
23,959 persons recommended for prosecution;

Taxes and penalties reported for assessment, $32,450,036;
Taxes and penalties assessed, approximately, $22,000,000.

Looks big—but the United States is a big country.

Commissioner of Internal Revenue William M. Williams says that with better co-operation from state and local officials, which is now being given, another year's record will show greater figures than the records of the year just closed.

AN ARMFUL OF SHAKESPEARE

The average man comes in contact with Shakespeare every day of his life. So thoroughly did the Bard of Evon place his mark on the English language that today, 355 years after his death, many of our cleverest epigrams, our pattest sayings and even much of our slang we owe to him.

Shakespeare is the one grand master of English and perhaps next to the Bible and possibly the dictionary, there are more volumes of Shakespeare than of any other English writing.

But of Shakespeare as originally printed there are not enough volumes to make a fair-sized armful.

There are in existence two copies of "Hamlet," one lacking the little page in the British museum, and the other lacking the last leaf, in this country.

Of "Venus and Adonis" there are 11 known copies of the first eight editions, while of "Titus Andronicus" there is but a single copy owned by a New York book collector.

These "super rarities" are called "quarto volumes" and command prices slightly greater than the ransom, which might be asked for a good, though slightly used, king.

The "folio" editions, which came later, are very rare, too, though not as rare as the quartos.

A new substitute for milk is now made from the peanut.

"Doc" Roberts, Head of Wire Tappers, at Present a Visitor in Daytona

Although a warrant has been in the hands of the sheriff's office for his arrest since last spring, "Doc" Roberts head of the wire-tapping clan, is at present in Daytona and no attempt has been made to serve the warrant, judging from all appearances. Roberts and some of his lieutenants were interviewed by local estate men yesterday negotiating for the rental of a house, evidently to be used as a rendezvous for "skinning" the unsuspecting suckers.

How Wire-Tappers Work

Wire tappers do not tap telegraph wires but only the purses and finances of gullible victims. It is said that millions have been taken from unsuspecting persons on the East Coast of Florida during the past few winters, and Roberts is at this time at the head of one of these gangs, it is said.

The process of wire-tappers is one of the most perfect pieces of acting conceivable. It is a play on the weakness of human nature. It is worked on the principal that there is a sucker born every minute. You perhaps are a stranger sojourning in a winter resort. You are alone and lonesome, but, nevertheless on the look-out for opportunities to add to your worldly goods. Being lonesome, you do not turn a chilly face to an affable stranger, who may approach you and bid you the time of the day. This stranger perchance, sits on the bench along the parkway and converses with you on topics of general interest. You part each expressing satisfaction at having met each other. Next day your acquaintanceship is resumed and so on the following day, and for numerous other consecutive days. You are the "sucker" and he the "steerer"—are meandering leisurely along the boulevard, perhaps through the park when your new found friend remarks to you as your approach a well dressed individual, "I believe that man is Oscar Guild, a very prominent race track gambler who made a clean-up of an immense fortune recently."

Your friend reaches in his pocket and produces a newspaper clipping (the clipping, of course, having been made to order.) He hands it to you and you read the winning by this man of a fortune that rivals the fame of El Dorado. "I believe I will go up and speak to him," says your friend. You both leisurely stroll up to this affable looking individual and your friend says to him, "How do you do Mr. Guild—what are you doing down here?" The Affluent One immediately swells up like a bloated toad and replies, "You are mistaken—I have never seen you before." Your friend then responds, "You can't fool me. I know you are Oscar Guild, and you will recollect that I was introduced to you at Minneapolis by Congressman Somebody last August. I remember you by the barnacle on your head, (or some other distinctive marks.)" The Affluent One then admits that he is the one whom he is taken to be but tells both of you that he down here on a vacation suffering from a case of "nerves" or some other modern disease, and that he did not want his identity disclosed. This was the reason he assures you, that he denied his identity. The three of you engage in various speech for some little time and then your friend says to the Affluent One, "What are you doing?" He replies, "Same old game." Your friend then asks "Can you help us out in his pockets produces a roll of bills; peels off a $100 bill and hands it to your friend, whereupon your friend remonstrates that it is not what he meant but he asks the Affluent One if he can not invest a little money for him and make good returns. The Affluent One says, "Yes, I guess I can, but I have to be pretty quiet about it, as no one except members of the racing association are allowed to participate in the benefits."

The Game Begins.

"How much do you want to bet?" You each hand him a dollar—he takes it and tells you to meet him at a stated hour that afternoon. You three meet at the appointed time and place. He gives you each back your respective dollar and on top of it alleged winnings of two $20 bills—one for each of the two simoleons. You are elated at such an easy "find." You ask him if he will not bet for you again, and you raise the ante to $10. He takes the $10; he goes somewhere, saying the club is under cover; he pretends to bet and returns to you with $100. You now have swallowed the bait. This is easier than you made money back home and you are constrained to continue at such an easy game.

Then Become Pals

The Affluent One and the "steerer" and yourself have by this time become "pals." The Affluent One tells you that he likes you; he trusts you and he will give you an opportunity to make a bunch of easy money. He tells you that there is an office of the "Amalgamated Racing Ass'n" near by—perhaps he can take you in as a guest and perhaps the officials of this great "association" will allow you, through him, to bet some money. You approach the office of the alleged association; you enter its portals with unsteady step and tense nerve; the magnificence of the place appalls you—it is gorgeously furnished and has myriads of telegraph wires running nowhere except in the ground—a dozen clicking telegraph instruments gives the place a look of realism and on the tables and walls are telephones galore; the cashier's cage, would do credit to a country bank; numerous clerks, in their shirt sleeves, and racing charts, and, all in all, the place has the appearance of a busy broker's office.

You know nothing about horse racing—you wouldn't know a race horse from a human race. You are a stranger—it would be nothing unusual that this club should have existed without your knowledge. You know horse racing is tabooed, so why should you be suspicious at all about the outward secrecy surrounding the club? You feel that you have been taken into the inner circle—so you will be, but not in the way you fondly had anticipated. You gaze in wonder at the "system", so perfect in every detail, but all for your gullibility. There are twenty-five, perhaps fifty men, all seemingly betting on races that are supposed to be about to start in Havana, maybe Juarez. On the charts are names of horses. Money is being placed by the thousands; the cashier is busy taking it in and giving various odds on the fictitious bets that are being placed by clients. Ten to fifty thousand dollars in real money is often used—the rest of this upposed currency you see is only paper cut to the size of bills and the edges stained.

Now we come to the place where you get in deep. Up comes an alleged telegraph operator in the employ of the association and who likewise poses as an old friend of the Affluent One—he has a grudge against the great Amalgamated Racing Association; he'd skin it if he had the money. Put up the money and the four of you will do it; he to get a percentage for giving the tip. This is what this alleged operator proposes: He'll tap the telegraph wires, get the results of a big race, restore the wires and send the results in, thus holding the results of the race back for several minutes. During this time the results are being held back, of course, you would do your betting on this gigantic scheme to defraud the racing association. This is where the "wire-tapping" comes in.

Now Comes Big Bet

Affluent One suggests that you each put up $10,000 and make a killing so that you can all retire—of course, it's dishonest, but then no one knows you down here—and besides if you are susceptible you are naturally dishonest. But then you haven't the money. Affluent One has $15,000 with him in currency and drafts. Friend has about $5,000. You only have a couple of hundred perhaps. About this time the suggestion is made to you by your two companions that you are not known and your check will do, and anyhow it's a sure thing and the check will be returned to you in a few minutes—then too, the suggestion is made that you sign a name other than your own. You quaver for a moment but the thought of winning so much on a certainty lures you on and you write the fictitious check. A little while rolls by; the alleged operator comes up to the Affluent One and whispers that he has tapped the wire and the door or some other horse has won the race—"Hurry," he says, "and make the bet." Affluent One walks up to the cashier with your phony check. He $25,000 and your friend's $5,000 (mostly consisting of colored paper) and gets $30,000 at odds of two to one.

Wires Are Supposedly Tapped

The alleged operator purports to restore the wires and in comes the report on the race. You have won your share of $60,000—a third of it. Affluent One walks up to the cashier—you and your friend are at his heels—to get your winnings.

You stand breathless and dumb-founded at such a "killing" the cashier is counting out the money, including your phony check and the cash and drafts put up by the Affluent One and your friend—your partners in the scheme that you think defrauded the great racing association.

Already an armful of money has been counted out by the cashier—when up steps the manager. His optics behold the check; he halts the cashier, loudly demanding to know of the cashier, "Did I not tell you to accept checks from no one except members of the association; how do we know this check to be good; this man may be a fakir and at raid." The final outcome is that the cashier takes back the money while he and the manager discuss the check question. Affluent One and your friend assure the manager that they know you and know your check is good. "If the check is good," reports the manager, "you must convince us that you are able to make it good." You know you have not that much money in the bank, besides the check is signed by a fictitious name; a cog has slipped in the wheel of your plans. You have a fortune almost within your grasp. You feel that you must make good. Your friend suggests that you go home and get the money and convince the association that you can make good. You go home; you go to your bank and arrange to get the money—the "steerer" of course, learned during his acquaintance with you that you had facilities for getting money. Your friend, the "steerer" goes with you so that your mind may not be diverted from the fortune you have won—you get a New York draft and take the next train back to claim your fortune won on the races by what you believe a crooked deal and frame-up against the racing association.

Now You Get "Trimmed."

Now the scene is set for the final play. On the way back your journey, it seems to you will never come to an end so anxious are you and your friend to get back to claim the swag. Finally you arrive and go to the office of the racing association and you present your draft only to be told that nothing but currency is accepted.

You then take your draft to a bank, and present it to be cashed. The banker of course, tells you that it will have to be sent on for collection. You are considerably disappointed at this as you had expected that a New York draft was real money and all you had to do was to present it. Such is not good banking methods, however. Finally you leave the draft to be transmitted for collection, and await a remittance. In the meantime the "steerer" never leaves your side, he eats

Songs and Music a Feature in the Big 'Cindy' Show

Tunes that you simply cannot forget, catchy swing airs that you want to whistle, feature the music in "Oh, Oh, Cindy!" which is to be produced by local talent sponsored by the Civic department of the Palmbeach club at the Auditorium, Daytona Beach, Thursday, Feb. 10.

Most of the music has been especially written for the production by the experts employed by the John B. Rogers Producing Co. Among the more popular numbers are "Oh, Miss White", sung by Richard Niven and chorus; "I'm the One", sung by J. L. Pepper; Wm. Roxby's song, "Quack, Says the Duck"; "Come Along to the Movies" by Misses Wright, Brewster and Wellington Shaw; J. L. Pepper, H. Merryday, G. E. Horton and Nicholas Boris; "Oh, What a Bump!" Wellington Shaw, Wm. Roxby and Lyle Ramsey; the finale to Act I, "In Our Aeroplane"; Richard Niven's song, "I Want a Chance to Beat That Drum"; and "You're All the World to Me," sung by Miss Wright and Wellington Shaw.

Following is a complete list of the principals as they will appear in the show next Thursday:

ORANGE BELT AUTO LINE TO HOLD BOOSTER MEET.

A. C. Marshall, manager of the Orange Belt Auto line, was in Daytona Saturday from headquarters at Orlando, arranging for a get-together meeting of employees which will be held Monday night at the Seminole hotel at Sanford. The Orange Belt Auto line operates between Daytona Beach and Tampa and has 29 employees. Efficiency is a hobby of Mr. Marshall's and he believes that he can get closer to his men and create a more loyal spirit by having them meet at the banquet table and exchange experiences. The Orange Belt buses give good service and accommodate thousands of tourists each season. They operate on regular schedule and every driver knows the roads and is an expert at the wheel. Daytona headquarters are at Tracey's.

TRACE SALE OF SOME $355,000 WORTH OF STOLEN SECURITIES

(International News Service.) MEMPHIS, Feb. 5.—Detectives this afternoon had traced the sale in Memphis of $355,000 worth of stolen Liberty bonds in the past ten days, while federal agents disclosed that aids were used to change numbers on other war securities disposed of here. Three batches of bonds alleged to be a part of nearly a half million dollars' worth, stolen in New York by automobile bandits.

ARMORY TO PRESENT SCENE OF BEAUTY AT OPENING ON MONDAY

By tomorrow the decorations at the Armory, where the big Elks' fair will open Monday evening, will be completed, and all of the booths will be in place and stocked with the goods which will be disposed of by the 200 energetic women workers and the members of the Elks' lodge.

The big drill hall, where the fair will be held, presented a scene of great activity yesterday, and the sound of hammers rang merrily throughout the day as the decorators transformed the big building into a veritable fairyland of beauty. On Monday night, when the great assemblage of people who are expected to attend the first night, enter the spacious drill hall there are certain to be exclamations of admiration for the beautiful scene that will meet the eye. The electrical decorations with the bright purples and white, the Elks' colors, and the whole dances in delightful harmony before the sight. From the center of the girders electric bulbs hang in festoons, with a large American flag hung to each festoon.

At about 7 o'clock tomorrow evening when the big doors of the Armory will swing open to admit an eager public to the gala portals of the drill hall where Daytona Lodge No. 1141 of Elks, will command the attention of the public of Daytona and other places for 12 nights to come, at the magnificent fair the Elks will hold.

For 12 nights the big drill hall of the Armory will hold its gay and happy crowds of men and women concerned with the rare pleasures and enjoyments of one of the most stupendous social affairs ever given in the city of Daytona. The big fair will draw as a huge magnet the great crowds and merry friends will meet in a perfect kaleidoscope of joyous humanity, pleasantly concerned the while with the chance acquaintance whose beaming faces reflect the joys of it all.

Like the great bazaars of the far east a riot of color will lend its glories to the spectacle as the women and girls move about from booth to booth and later will come the dancing to strains of sweetest music and all in an atmosphere redolent with the spirit of the thing, giving off its perfume in fragrant prophecy of the fulfillment of the cheery hope and unquenchable desire of every member of the Daytona lodge for their charity fund.

For this splendid fair, which for many weeks the Elks and their devoted wives, mothers, sisters and their sweethearts have labored so energetically and enthusiastically to make the big success that is now assured for it, has for its single object the raising of a goodly sum for this worthy object. Pride, prompted by the inspiring spirit that is the controlling factor of the Elks the country over, has engaged these earnest fellows and the womanfolk in one of the greatest feats ever attempted in the city. It is the first fair the Daytona Lodge of Elks has ever given, and it for no other reason than this should in itself prompt a generous people to lend their aid for so worthy a cause. But the Elks have ever held a firm grip on the hearts of the people and the Elks have ever shown a disposition to aid any other worthy cause that has been brought to their notice, and now they are asking the hearty cooperation and the sincere support of the public to make this first public money raising affair of theirs the great success they have planned for it.

Already the public has indicated its desire to aid so good a cause, and the merchants and the business men of the city have been quick to respond with generous donations to the big fair. The donations cover every conceivable article of use and usefulness and the value of these splendid offerings run well up in the thousands of dollars. It is to be doubted if any fair ever held in the city of Daytona measures in this respect to the Elks' fair. For weeks the faithful workers have been busily engaged in securing these donations, which the disposal of is expected to net a good round sum to be devoted by the Elks to their charity fund.

Tapper, In Daytona

with you and guides you has your complete story his every will, remarkable, nevertheless, your greed for the fab- your expect makes you other thought.

repeated inquiries, the amount of the draft paid to your credit. You paid to you in currency, and the banker prob- able you from taking explaining to you that it is dangerous to money on your person, on coached that the bank- ably thus caution you, so med with a story to tell the banker. You assure him, that you have taken a real estate option and must have the real money. The bank er probably even goes further, if he is a wise one and cautions you to be- ware of confidence men; probably tells you to look out for wire-tappers. You do not heed his advice but proud- ly chuckle to yourself that you are a wire-tapper, or at least, are in with a click that are tapping the wires.

After deducting the exchange, the banker eventually gives you the mon- ey—there is no reason why he should not; he has cautioned you to beware of "con" men. He can do no more. You take your roll, go with your Friend and the Affluent One to the racing club. You walk up to the cas- her and proudly offer to pay over the money to make your check good. He informs you that the racing charts for that day are at the "general office." You sit down to impatiently wait while the charts are sent for. You wait and wait. In the meantime the "office" is busy with the hum of business; they knew you were coming and have everything arranged for your arrival. It is set for you and for you alone, but you do not know it. You think that business is being transacted today as every other day. About now the tele- graph operator walks up to Affluent One and gives another tip; one that he assures you will make you rich. Your greed is fired. You want to take advantage of the latest tip—if you could only get the money you have coming to you, you would bet it—but the infernal racing sheets have not yet arrived. Finally a happy thought strikes Affluent One; he goes up to the cashier and asks if you can not bet on your credit—this $50,000, the says "yes." The tip of the operator is to "place" your money on such and such a horse. Affluent One and your Friend give you their racing credit slip and a bundle of colored paper with a few bills on top—you add to it your $10,000—take it all in your arm and go up to the cashier's cage and say: "I want to bet $30,000 cash and our credit of $50,000 on Such and Such." "To win" asks the cashier. "Of course, to win," you reply. He gives you your ticket. You walk back to Affluent One and your Friend. They ask, "Were you able to place the bet?"

"Sure," you answer. "You bet for 'place' did you?" "I bet the horse will win," is your proud response. "Oh you poor boob," you are told, "we told you to 'place' the money. Go back quick and change the bet." You rush breathlessly back to the cashier and tell him you made a mistake—you wanted to bet the horse would get place and not win. "Too late," he says, "the race is on." You stand dumb- founded for a moment or two, and the announcement is made that your horse was second. You had bet it would win—so your money is lost—your $10,000 real money is gone glimmering.

You stand as in a trance. The hopes of fabulous wealth of which you dreamed for a couple of weeks or more are in an instant dashed to earth.

This article has thus far been ad- dressed to the prospective victim. He has now become a victim in reality, and it perhaps will interest the read- er to know the system that is used so that the sucker often, until the day he reaches his grave, does not know that he has been "sucked."

After the climax a fight ensues be- tween the Affluent One and the Friend. The Affluent One accuses the Friend of causing the transaction to become bungled because he allowed the sucker to bet instead of betting himself on information which had been obtained through his influence with the alleged telegraph operator. He leads the sucker to believe that his blunder has caused him to lose more than it has caused the sucker and the Friend to lose. A realistic fight takes place. Perhaps chairs are thrown, blood may flow, and in the middle of the tussle the manager come and cautions them that they have probably badly injured the Affluent One, that the officers will soon be on their trail and the best thing they can do is to get away as rapidly as possible.

The sucker feels sympathy toward the "steerer" and the Affluent One in that the "sucker" believes that his blunder caused, not him alone, but them also to lose a vast fortune. The "sucker" is willing to make amends. He asks what can be done. The Friend sticks to the sucker, and they go away together. The Friend tells the "sucker" that he can arrange to re- cover the money by like operations in some other racing office, in some distant city. The "sucker" and the Friend get on the train, the "sucker" being told to go to a certain city, and stop at a certain hotel and that the Friend will later join him. At the ex- pected time of the arrival, however, instead of coming the Friend sends a telegram that he is unable to get more money to continue to bet, but to meet him at another city, and stop at an- other designated hotel. This delay, you understand, is to enable and cause the victim to recover from his loss, on the principle that time cures any- thing. The second telegram may have taken the victim to Minneapolis. After he is well settled in Minneapolis, an- other telegram is received by him to meet the Friend in Salt Lake City, that he has got in touch with this al- leged operator and that the three of them will recover the money which they have lost. The victim is sent on from one city to another on different pretences, until at last he receives a telegram giving some excuse why the Friend cannot meet him and telling him to go back home until he com- municates with him.

The Cure of Time
This traveling about the country has probably occupied a period of from two weeks to thirty days, and by this time the victim has become reconciled to his loss. He returns home and it is said that in many instances lives the balance of his life under the be- lief that he made a mistake in plac- ing his bet.

It is said that pains are taken to get the victim to go back home by this method in order that he may not at the shock of his loss be tempted to take his life as is often the case when fortunes are lost at Monte Carlo and other gambling resorts.

The above are the principal fea- tures in the story of wire-tapping. A great many details perhaps have been omitted, but nevertheless, this story tells in consecutive form the general plan. All through the game the neces- sity for the utmost secrecy is cau- tioned upon the victim. He is led of believe from the start to the finish that he is doing the criminal act, and as a rule he is ashamed to divulge even to his wife or his closest friends that he is participating in the game.

Many Enjoy Play at Palmetto Club Party on Saturday

The Saturday afternoon card party held at the Palmetto clubhouse was one of the most enjoyable of the af- fairs this season, given by the club. 18 tables of bridge and 500 being played during the afternoon. The prize winners at bridge included Mes- dames Rosner, Marston, Farrington, Ernest Smith, Kern and Harris, while Mrs. Gubeler and Mrs. Laurens were the winners at 500. Mrs. M. P. Corn- wall and Mrs. W. F. Bates were ad- ditional hosts to the many guests.

It was announced that the next card party, to be held on Saturday of this week will be in the nature of a Valentine party, with Mrs. W. A. Roxby, Jr., and Mrs. Chas. Gallor as hosts.

The funds derived from the play next Saturday will be devoted to the building fund of the club, when prizes will be given and refreshments served during the afternoon.

Seven tables have already been re- served for private parties for next Saturday, the affair, it is planned, to be the biggest of the card parties of the season. Tables may be reserved for private or progression, the com- mittee being in charge of reservation.

It is hoped by the club members that considerable may be added to the club building fund, as the result of the Valentine party next Saturday.

Leading Hotels of the East Coast of the Great Winter Playground of the World

Visitors Coming to the East Coast of Florida May Be Assured of Good Service and Reasonable Charges at the Hotels Listed in These Columns

HOTEL DESPLAND

On Friday evening the guests of the Despland hotel are wearing a happy smile these days because the big hotel is filled nearly to its capacity with old and new. There are many people who every winter spend the season at this hotel where many warm friendships are formed and the time passes very pleasantly.

Saturday evening the regular ball was given and was very much enjoyed by the guests and many of their friends from the Triple Cities. The music was furnished by the Ridgewood orchestra which is making a decided hit with all who happen to be so fortunate as to enjoy any of the social events of the Ridgewood.

Mrs. Robert K. Eaton of Boston who spent the earlier part of the season at the Ridgewood has been spending a few weeks at Palm Beach. Saturday she returned to the Ridgewood for the balance of the winter and was joined there by her friend, Mrs. Howard Knight of Boston and the two are very much enjoying the delights of Daytona.

Among the new arrivals at the Ridgewood are Dr. and Mrs. L. K. Shipman of New London, Conn.; Mr. and Mrs. J. M. Coughlan, of Brooklyn, N. Y.; Mr. and Mrs. F. W. Evanson, Jacksonville, Fla.; Mrs. John C. Blevins and daughter, Bronxville, N. Y. They all arrived Friday and the latter by automobile.

James P. Judge, Miss Beatrice M. Judge, Miss M. E. Collins and Frank D. Shea formed a pleasant party at the Ridgewood during the week. They are from Brooklyn, N. Y.

Mr. and Mrs. James F. Toole of New Haven, Conn., Mr. and Mrs. Alfred H. Benjamin of Montclair, N. J. and Mrs. A. Klein of Gloversville, N. Y. are at the Ridgewood.

Mr. and Mrs. Lee Reichenman and Charles Marx of New York were at the Ridgewood for a few days during the past week.

Mr. and Mrs. U. S. Bryant of Durham, N. C.; H. M. Jackson of Macon, Ga., and Rev. and Mrs. R. H. Gilbert of Berwick, were a pleasant party of friends who enjoyed the hospitality of the Hotel Ridgewood for a few days last week.

probabilities for the week just ahead. The Hotel Ormond baseball team won two games during the week. After beating a patchwork nine by a score of 13 to 2 on Tuesday, it smothered the Ormond team from across the Halifax 17 to 2 on Thursday. The work of the pitchers, Conner and McNulty, featured the games.

Bishop Mann of Orlando arrived at the hotel Ormond Friday, also L. C. Haines, New York and Mrs. C. G. Plant of Boston.

William Potts, the professional, went the 18 holes of the golf course in 72 the other day. Three amers par.

Arrivals at the Hotel Ormond on Friday included: Malcolm Burnside, Wm. A. Reynolds, Wilkes Barre, Pa.; Mr. and Mrs. A. N. Hedetone, Mrs. W. A. Douglas, Miss Douglas, Miss Charlotte Brown, Buffalo, N. Y.; Mr. and Mrs. Richard Conder and child, Miss Shirley, Greensburg, Pa.; Mr. and Mrs. James Brandt, New York; Wm. H. Jamison, The Misses Jamison, Philadelphia, Mr. and Mrs. James L. Stuart, Pa.; Mrs. W. H. Canady, Mrs. W. W. Vance, Pittsburg, Pa.; M. J. Kierman, New York; Mrs. H. F. Clay, Philadelphia; Mrs. W. L. Buckline, Brookline, Mass.; Mrs. Henry H. Decker, Newark, N. J.; Cannon Mann, Orlando; L. C. Haines, New York; Mr. and Mrs. C. P. Whitney, Chicago; Mr. and Mrs. W. T. Barbour, Miss Barbour, Alphonse Thomas Barbour, Miss Jordan, Detroit; Mr. and Mrs. Spencer C. Gilbert, Harrisburg, Pa.

HOTEL ORMOND

Men putt better than women if the competitions of the past week on the Ormond clock greens count for anything. W. J. Nichols of Bridgeport, Conn., won the men's competition with a round of 29. Not one of the dozen contestants was over 39 putts, whereas of the fifteen women participants, the day before, at least a third were over 50 and some as high as 58.

A competition up the beach and a four ball match with Jim Barnes, Mike Brady, Cal O'Hara and Fredrick McLeod taking part are among the Buy Now! Buy What You Need! Help Make Us All Prosperous!

You know that scores of factories closed because of lack of orders. The production is curtailed, consumption is going right on.

Almost before you realize it merchandise will be scarce and hard to get. Reduced output, limited supply and renewed demand will put prices UP again.

When factories reopen it will take months to catch up with the country's increasing requirements.

If You Put Off Buying the Things You Need You Help Put Up Prices and Increase the Cost of Living

The time to BUY has come. Goods are being sold at a loss in many cases. Prices have reached rock-bottom. They positively will not be lower, quality considered. Buy the things you need. Help keep the factories going and the workers busy. If you put off buying the clothes, shoes, hats and other things you'll want and need you'll cause prices to climb again and continued widespread unemployment.

AMERICAN LEGION IS MAIN FIGURE IN "THE FACE AT YOUR WINDOW"

The American Legion is the heroic figure of "The Face at Your Window," the new William Fox special production which is coming to the New Daytona theatre on Wednesday and Thursday, both matinee and evening performances. When the forces of evil are set loose to destroy American homes and American ideals, the men who fought for America in France rise to smash the foe.

This mighty conception is from the pen of Max March, author of "Eyes of Youth," "Cheating Cheaters," and "The House of Glass." Mr. March has set out to show what will happen unless Americans awake to the evil intent of those who preach doctrines subversive of American ideals.

The United States government encouraged William Fox in making this picture, and it was due to the request of the government that Richard Stanton, the director, was able to obtain the free use of the manufacturing town of Boonton, N. J., for the filming.

The production was on a huge scale, and nothing but the actual streets, houses and factories of a typical American city could be used.

Clyde Cook Also.

Clyde Cook, greatest of comedians, will also be seen Wednesday and Thursday in "All-Week," his greatest hit of the season.

In London William Fox found him, and signed him to appear in Clyde Cook Comedies, but first the funny man had to put in a season at the New York Hippodrome in order to fulfill a prior contract.

Clyde Cook has a style all his own. There is nothing else like him under the sun. Perhaps it's just as well. Prolonged laughter is wearying, and human endurance has its limits. For one thing, you never can tell just how Clyde Cook's extemporaries are going to connect themselves. Under circumstances wherein the normal person would take a straight-forward course, Clyde's perverse members are apt to sail a northeast by southwest route; and strange and wonderful are the convolutions amidship.

Jean Knowlton, Lotta Greenup, In Concert Here

Tuesday evening, Feb. 8 at the Auditorium will appear Jean Knowlton, soprano and Lotta Greenup, violinist, two musical artists of distinction in a carefully prepared program. This is a regular assembly number.

Miss Jean Knowlton has filled many successful engagements with the unique recital which presents both costumes and music of great contrast and charm. The program included Old French Pastorals as well as both folk songs and art songs of Spain, many of which have never before been used in the concert stage. The rare old "manton" or shawl, which the singer wears, is one of the most characteristic and attractive of the traditional Spanish costumes.

Of Miss Greenup the Macon Telegraph says: "Artistic triumph with the Russian Symphony." Lotta Greenup, who appeared Thursday evening as soloist at the chautauqua of the South played the fourth concerto by Vioultemps and she gave a rendition which for breath, authority and beauty of tone proved her right to a high place among violinists.

"DESERT GOLD" TO BE SHOWN AT AUDITORIUM ON MONDAY

At the Auditorium Monday evening, Feb. 7, will be seen "Desert Gold," said to be Zane Grey's most powerful moving picture. An all-star cast in which every player of an important role has been starred, co-starred or featured by other big companies.

A director who has done his biggest screen achievement because the producer, Mr. Hampton, and the author, Mr. Grey, permitted him to go the limit in intelligence and expenditure.

Mr. Hampton says this to you: "I am content to let this production represent my standards for the exhibitors of America."

Zane Grey says to you: "The spirit the action and truth of Desert Gold have been put on the screen. The picture in my book as I wrote it."

W. W. Hodgkinson, the distributor, says to you, "Not since I first saw 'The Birth of a Nation' has any picture given me such a thrill as Desert Gold."

NAZIMOVA WILL BE SEEN IN "THE BRAT" AT THE SEABREEZE

The amazing Russian artist, Nazimova, is presented in the dual guise of star and dramatist in her newest production, "The Brat" at the Seabreeze Opera House Tuesday afternoon and evening. Nazimova plays the difficult and highly emotional role of "the brat" but it was she who adapted it, in collaboration with Charles Bryant, from the original stage play written by Maude Fulton and in which Miss Fulton starred thru out the United States and Canada.

A number of Nazimova's own ideas are incorporated in the screen version of the great stage success in shape of acted incidents and tableaux in the plot. Nazimova, who is an accomplished linguist and musician as well as the foremost actress on the screen today, took as part of her education for the stage a course in stage direction in Russia. She is both producer and star in her own productions, and her acquaintance with the world famous books and plays of literature is of many and extensive.

Benefit Show for Seabreeze Library Thursday Evening

From the rapid sale of tickets now coming out it is quite evident that the "When the Clouds Roll By" at the Seabreeze Opera House, Thursday evening, Feb. 10, to attend the benefit performance given under the auspices of the Seabreeze Library Association, when Douglas Fairbanks will star in "When the Clouds Roll By."

"The Seabreeze Library Association has pledged its efforts to open a reading and rest room on Ocean boulevard or as near it as possible, but next season at 1-1-1. The several members of the official board and others are working with a will by personal solicitation and otherwise to realize in encouraging sum from the evening performance, and hope no one will be dissatisfied in being given the privilege to contribute to so worthy a cause, but in event they are not so fortunate as to find you at home, tickets may be had at the Chautauque Club, the "Clarendon" dress store, the Princess Theatre, the General and Marine Place on Ocean boulevard as well as at the opera house the evening of the performance.

The members are giving their time and efforts without money and without price and deserve a liberal response from every resident or sojourner at Seabreeze. This also is the best possible opportunity for Daytona and Daytona Beach to manifest their interest in a nearby sister community by helping to make the evening receipts a great success.

PAULINE FREDERICK STARRED IN "MADAME X" COMING TOMORROW

Pauline Frederick, whose new play "Madame X" a Goldwyn production, comes to the New Daytona theatre for two days commencing Monday, is one screen actress who believes in keeping herself in the character she is portraying from the start to the finish of the production. Consequently playing the role of the sad, lonesome, hopeless woman around whose stormy life the action of the play moves is no easy task for her. The character calls for the best in emotional acting and Miss Frederick, long before the first scenes of the play were taken, was determined to present a new "Madame X" to the screen audiences and spent hours studying each scene.

Every scene that Miss Frederick has in the play calls for strong emotional acting. She is Jacqueline Floriot, wife of a busy attorney of Paris, whose husband has driven her from his home because of his unjust suspicions concerning her relations with another man. The first scenes show her returning to her home in an effort to see her young son, who is seriously ill. But Floriot confronts her and in spite of her pleas and explanations drives her into the street, again, telling her that her son be hoves her dead.

Twenty years later she is in Buenos Aires, a wreck of a woman, frequenting underworld resorts, drinking absinthe and ether, a woman who has seen life at its worse. She comes back to France as the companion of a crook, hoping to be able to see her son once before she dies. She kills her companion because he attempts to use her in a blackmail scheme after learning something of her life story. She is sent to prison as "Madame X," because she refuses to reveal her identity and her son now a lawyer, is assigned to defend her at her trial, while her husband looks on from the judge's bench. Time comes in the trial when she recognizes her husband and learns the identity of her counsel. Longing to take her son in her arms she controls herself hoping now that he may never know her. Then when she is acquitted, through her son's eloquence she holds him for a moment in her arms after her husband has told him who she is. But the strain of the trial, the shock of meeting her son under such circumstances prove too much for the wreck of womanhood she has become and she dies when there is trace of happiness in sight for her.

The Paramount Magazine will also be shown in connection with "Madame X" at the New Daytona, both matinee and evening performances on Monday and Tuesday.

VIVIAN MARTIN'S LATEST PICTURE FILMED IN SOUTH

Atlanta, Ga., had a big time not so very long ago, the occasion being the filming of scenes for Vivian Martin's newest picture "Husbands and Wives" from the famous novel "Making Her His Wife," by Clara Harris, who, by the way, is a Southern woman living just outside the city. Atlanta's "400" and her debutantes took part in the scenes made at the County Club and in one of the famous restaurants. At the wealthy northern girl, who, on a visit to her aunt, marries a southern hardware merchant. Vivian Martin has a splendid opportunity of which she fully takes advantage, in proving she is an artist of the highest class. The struggles between husband and wife to beat each other to their way of thinking make for many highly dramatic situations. The picture is the feature of the Seabreeze Opera House Monday afternoon and night.

DOUGLAS FAIRBANKS COMING TO SEABREEZE TWO DAYS THIS WEEK

There's absolutely no secret about the wonderful ability Douglas Fairbanks displays in doing his hazardous stunts and the way he does them, for Doug is like a boy who has never grown up. He is constantly trying out new perilous feats that keep everyone around his studio in a constant state of breathless suspense.

During the making of his latest production for the "Big Four," "When the Clouds Roll By," which will be shown at the Seabreeze Opera House Wednesday and Thursday, both matinee and evening.

Doug decided that one scene would be improved if he performed a standing back somersault. But he had never done such a stunt and did not know quite how to go about it. For days and days he practiced it in his gymnasium at the studio and incidentally, not some rather severe falls. Still he would not give up. And when the day finally arrived for the filming of this particular "act" he did the back somersault without the slightest bit of trouble.

Man Fined Under Employment Act, Breach Contract

Frank Couveretta of Thousand Islands, N. Y., has been arrested by Marshal W. D. Young on a warrant sworn out under a special Florida statute charging him with the "fraudulent breach of contract of employment."

P. N. Stengle, owner of the Geneva hotel in Seabreeze is the prosecutor. He claims the defendant agreed to work for him here and relying upon his promise, sent him $150 with which to pay his expenses here. He used the money and came all O. K., but when he arrived he refused to go to work for Mr. Stengle but instead found employment in a Daytona bake shop. From the start it looked like a hotly contested case. Justice R. L. Selden before whom the case will be tried had the jurisdiction to assess a fine of five hundred dollars or imprisonment for a year. The defendant demanded a jury trial which was granted. To defend him he secured the services of Attorney M. G. Rowe of Daytona, while Attorney Frank W. Pope also of Daytona was engaged by Mr. Stengle to represent the prosecution.

At the trial in the town hall Saturday afternoon the testimony showed that the defendant came as agreed and worked for the prosecutor as a chef from November 29th, 1920 to Dec. 15, at $175 per month, the agreed price. At that time there arose a dispute regarding the time of serving meals when many words were passed and the defendant walked out, leaving a balance due the prosecutor in work of $35. The following jury heard the story: A. W. Shaw, foreman; W. B. Oehler, Legare McLary, W. F. Cleveland, G. F. Tyler and J. B. Kerstetter. After a retirement of ten minutes a verdict of guilty was returned. Justice Selden promptly gave the defendant his choice of going to jail for 60 days or paying a fine of $40 besides the cost of prosecution. He chose the latter and paid the $40.

Members of the Daytona Beach council have persons desiring to build will apply for their permits before putting in their foundations. Sometimes it is impossible for the permit to be granted for the location selected and in such cases are put to considerable expense. In other words "look before you leap."

At the Daytona Beach Tourist headquarters in the Dixie hotel lobby the contest still continues to determine the states for the largest representation of the beach. Up to Saturday noon Michigan still led with 216, New York passed Kentucky with 196; Kentucky 191, Ohio 98, Illinois 95, Indiana 71, Pennsylvania 69, Massachusetts 42, New Jersey 26. Of the far away states California has 3, Oklahoma 9, North Dakota 6 and Iowa 14. Of foreign countries Canada has 15 and India 1.

Many Inquiries Received From Foreign Lands

Secretary R. L. Selden of the Chamber of Commerce has received interesting inquiries regarding the wonderful beach during the past few days from England, France and Belgium. The Englishman wanted to know about the possibilities and prices of citrus farms, the Belgian is a business man and wants to purchase a permanent year round residence. He is a merchant. The Frenchman is a man of means who wants to come for a year and desires information regarding hotel accommodations and prices, as well as facts regarding the attractive features of this resort. Mr. Selden says he is receiving many such letters recently.

PENINSULA LOCALS

Mrs. Josie Miller is here from Jackson, Mich., and has located at 139 Wild Olive street.

Mr. and Mrs. J. C. Lutz and Mrs. Jane Wertz of Panama, Ill., are located temporarily at a local hotel.

Mr. and Mrs. W. F. Engle of Bloomington, Ill., are spending some time here and will soon be located for the winter.

Mr. and Mrs. Henry Tamblin of Carley Brook, Pa., arrived yesterday and are at local hotel temporarily. They hope to be located by the first of the week.

Mrs. Clara and Emma Frey of Galesburg, Ill., and Mrs. Herbert A. Byfield of Chicago, have arrived and are at the Manor apartments on the ocean front.

Here from Highland Park, Mich., are: Mr. and Mrs. Frank E. Hill, Elizabeth Hill, Gertrude Hill, Mary Grace Hill and Frank E. Hill, Jr. They are located at 140 Halifax avenue, Seabreeze.

J. W. Stoneman of Chagrin Falls, O., had a conference with Clerk R. L. Selden and Councilman Frank Bradley at the former's office Saturday with regard to the purchase of the bunch of the city improvement bonds just issued. Mr. Stoneman is a man of means looking for an investment.

Michigan Banker Most Optimistic of Business Future

Hon. and Mrs. H. M. Zimmerman of Detroit, are the guests of their old friends and neighbors, Hon. and Mrs. A. N. Kummis in their apartments in the Kemp apartments on Atlantic avenue. Messrs Zimmerman and Kummis formerly were neighbors in Pontiac and were fellow members of the Michigan legislature during the stormy political times in that state, when the erratic, but progressive Pingree, the Detroit shoe manufacturer was governor. Since those memorable days Mr. Zimmerman has held various other public offices including state bank commissioner which he held for several years. He is still a mighty active business man being still president of the National Bank of Pontiac and vice president of the United Savings Bank of Detroit.

"If its business conditions you want to know about," said this very affable gentleman when approached for a little talk about matters in the north. "I am very glad to say they are looking much better up our way and I am very optimistic of the almost immediate future. It now begins to look as if big things in the way of business developments are near at hand. Our auto factories are increasing their forces, every week now and while I am not looking for normal conditions at once, there is every evidence of permanent improvement. There is a feeling of soundness but of course, large interests will proceed with a degree of moderation. Of course we will not go to pre war prices either, as to commodities or labor, but they will go to a lower level than they have been or are now, but I believe they will soon find a new level where they are likely to remain for many years to come. Henry Ford has just distributed another $7,000,000 bonus among his men and our business houses got the benefit of this, I tell you he is a big asset to our city and state. He is a much misunderstood man. While he is not a scholar, he has a soul full of human kindness and a most magnanimous spirit. He is greatly admired by those who know him best from his humblest employee to the most important financier in our city. He has a clean open way of transacting big business and the world never knew a better or wiser money distributor. Mr. Ford's ambition is to build the very highest type of manhood in his workshop and it seems to me this is as noble an ambition as a man can have."

With regard to the unfortunate case of Senator Newberry, Mr. Zimmerman observed: "This is a very sad case as his friends and associates are among the best and biggest men of Detroit. He has already been punished more than some would be by a long term in prison. He is very proud spirited and has been humiliated to the earth. It seems to me the justice will be as well served if he escapes the penitentiary."

When asked for his opinion as to the future of Liberty bonds, Mr. Zimmerman very earnestly said: "They are as certain to appreciate in price as the sun is to shine and I do not think it will be a great while until they are substantially higher. They are the best security there is and I would not dispose of them. They will sell above par some day and the long time ones will in time be worth the most. As soon as the general interest rate drops and it is on the decline now, the price of bonds will automatically go up. There is already a change for the better in the business feeling because of the confidence the people have in President-elect Harding. He has certainly given a magnificent account of himself since his nomination. I doubt if the party ever had a candidate whose attractive personality and wise treatment of all matters brought before him during the campaign, brought more popularity to his party or more votes to this ticket. In our state, as in others, the strong anti-Wilson sentiment had much to do with the unheard of political land slide."

This is Mr. Zimmerman's second visit to Daytona Beach, he having been here two years ago. "I have often told the people north about the wonderful beach," he said, "and I want to ask where you folks get so much money. The development here in two years has been marvelous. I can scarcely believe my eyes when I see it. Two years ago many of the young men were still in the war and there were not many men about, the tourists that were here were largely women. I certainly predict a great future for this beach section. I also want to speak of your magnificent auditorium. That was not here on my former visit and I was surprised and pleased to see it. It would do credit to a much larger population and you certainly must have some generous, progressive and truly public spirited men to make it possible for you to have it."

Mr. and Mrs. H. M. Zimmerman of Detroit, are the guests of their old friends and neighbors, Hon. and Mrs. A. N. Kummis in their apartments in the Kemp apartments on Atlantic avenue. Messrs Zimmerman and Kummis formerly were neighbors in Pontiac and were fellow members of the Michigan legislature during the stormy political times in that state, when the erratic, but progressive Pingree, the Detroit shoe manufacturer was governor. Since those memorable days Mr. Zimmerman has held various other public offices including state bank commissioner which he held for several years. He is still a mighty active business man being still president of the National Bank of Pontiac and vice president of the United Savings Bank of Detroit.

The East Coast State Bank to Change Name; Increase Capital Stock to $50,000

The East Coast State Bank, the stock of which to this time has been distributed among stockholders on the peninsula and in Deland, is now strictly a peninsula bank, all of the stock held by the banking interests in Deland having been purchased by peninsula holders.

In addition to making the East Coast State Bank a peninsula bank in ownership as well as name, the stock of the bank was increased from $25,000 to $50,000, the new stock, or $25,000 being sold at $155, or the book value, giving the bank a surplus of $27,500, making a total working capital of $77,500. This has been possible because of the rapidly growing business of the East Coast State Bank, which has naturally followed increasing prosperity to so many residents and business men of Daytona Beach and Seabreeze.

Name Will Be Changed
 The name of the East Coast State Bank will also be changed to that of the East Coast Bank and Trust Company, giving the bank company the powers and authority to conduct the business of a trust company, in addition to its banking business.

As there is at present no trust company in Volusia county, it is felt that the addition to the banking business of this feature, will be most pleasing to the patrons of the peninsula bank. Fred N. Conrad, the largest owner of East Coast State Bank stock, is also the owner of one of the most beautiful residences on the peninsula, a large holder in the Clarendon hotel, a half owner in Bostwick Park, and other beach enterprises, and has devoted his energies for some years in the growth of the peninsula bank.

C. A. Randall, cashier, is also a resident of the peninsula, and alive to all activities at the beach, having conducted the affairs of the bank in an energetic and able manner. Under the new name and plan of operation, there will be a number of prominent peninsula residents added to the list of directors. Those who will at this time become members of the directorate are year round residents, among the most well to do and influential of peninsula residents, most substantial business men of Daytona Beach and Seabreeze.

Prominent Beach Residents
 The list of stockholders of the East Coast Bank and Trust company under the new organization plans, include: H. E. Pence, D. R. Blisson, Robt. Thoburn, D. P. Fugate, Gay G.

The fact that all outside interests had been purchased by peninsula stock holders of the bank was most favorably commented on Saturday on the streets of Daytona Beach, it being a matter of great interest and pleasure that the peninsula bank is now strictly owned and controlled by residents of the beach. That the new banking organization will also include in its routine of business, the features of a trust company and that the stock of the company is increased to $50,000 was also a matter of congratulation to the officers of the banking company.

 The selection of new blood for the directorate assures continued success to the peninsula bank, which, in every way is keeping pace to the ever growing communities of Seabreeze and Daytona Beach, giving to these communities a banking institution of the highest class in the East Coast Bank and Trust company.

RETIRED RAILROAD OFFICIAL FROM DETROIT AT THE BEACH
 Mr. and Mrs. J. H. Morris of Detroit are spending some time here. He is a retired railroad official and he says the folks up his way are glad the roads are back in private control. He thinks they will come back in time.

Mr. Morris says there are two classes of vacationers in the city that have naturally attracted the eye of the hotel man. One class has two hundred of these vacationers and another class has one hundred and twenty-five. He says it is not coming to see many of these people drive up to the beach places as they used to do and carry, and load their automobiles with groceries.
